

Abstract of the Disclosure

A computer/printer system and method which includes and involves a screen-display device with a display screen, and wherein requests for a document print preview results in the direct and accurate creation by the printer per se of a true preview on the 5 display screen showing how the document will actually look after printing.

1005642-043402